BRITAIN SIGNS WAR PACT TO SAVE POLAND

By CHARLES A. SMITH

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The pact of mutual assistance between Great Britain and Poland, framed as the first major move in Prime Minister Chamberlain's anti-aggression campaign, was signed today.

Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax signed on behalf of Britain while the Polish Ambassador, Count Edward Raczynski signed for Poland.

BULLETINS

BERLIN, Aug. 25 (AP).—The Berlin evening newspaper Nachtausgabe in a dispatch from Machrische-Ostrau, Germany, declared that "Polish insurgents" shot and killed seven Germans and one Czech national at Bielitz, across the Polish border.

The newspaper's correspondent reported that the Poles rounded up 25 Germans and several Czechs at Bielitz Thursday morning on charges of subversive activities. Loaded into trucks, the arrested men tried to flee into a nearby forest. The insurgents immediately fired several volleys, instantly killing eight and seriously wounding seven others, the dispatch said.

BERLIN, Aug. 25 (INS).—Twenty-four minority German and Ukrainian reservists were killed by machine gun squads in Poland for refusing to obey orders, the newspaper Der Angriff reported today in a dispatch from Lodz. The message said the victims were shot in a provisional military camp for refusing to be shifted to northern Poland.

DANZIG, Aug. 25 (INS).—Strong Polish troop concentrations in the Polish Corridor near Kartaschemken, Kokoschken and Goldkrug were reported by the Nazi newspaper Vorposten today.

BERLIN, Aug. 25 (AP).—The German official news agency, DNB, reported late today that the German intelligence service has ascertained a half dozen Polish divisions were on the frontier of East Prussia and eastern province of the Reich.

DNB said preparations made by the Poles "cannot be considered a defensive nature."

It was said that the Poles brought up much cavalry within striking distance of the border and that this indicated an offensive action was contemplated.

REPORT HITLER, BRITAIN'S ENVOY CONFER ON TRUCE

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson called unexpectedly at the chancellery today and spent nearly an hour with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, leading to reports that Great Britain was attempting to arrange a truce in the German-Polish crisis.

Henderson's visit was looked upon in some well-informed circles as a possible turning point in the crisis. Word of his call spread throughout Berlin like wildfire. As circles close to Hitler made clear he would emphatically reject President Roosevelt's appeals for peace, there was reason to believe that the British were attempting to persuade Hitler to agree to a truce based upon his minimum demands, namely:

Restoration of Danzig and the Polish Corridor to Germany, with Galicia remaining in Polish hands. It was not revealed whether Hitler had summoned Henderson or whether the ambassador had been despatched by Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Reports of heavy British pressure on Warsaw to agree to a truce and comply with Hitler's chief demands persisted, despite frequent disclaimers from London of any intention of staging a "new Munich."

The pact compels Britain to go to Poland's aid with all the forces at her command if Poland considers it vital to resist any attack upon her territorial integrity.

TERMS OUTLINED

The Anglo-Polish pact contains eight articles and lays down the circumstances under which the contracting parties will go to each other's assistance.

"It is a source of lively satisfaction to both governments that the negotiations for the present agreement have been so speedily and satisfactorily concluded."

"This agreement replaces and gives formal effect to the provisional agreement reached between the United Kingdom Government and the Polish Government during Foreign Minister Josef Beck's visit to London last spring and announced in the House of Commons on April 6," the statement added.

KING IN CONFERENCE

Timing of the signing announcement was considered significant because of the reported sceptical attitude in Germany toward Britain's decision to aid Poland.

King George VI called Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain into consultation at Buckingham Palace this evening soon after word was received in London of a mysterious conference between Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson in Berlin.

The British foreign office proposed hesitantly over the latter development, indicating that Hitler had summoned the envoy and that the initiative for the talk did not come from Britain.

There was no intimation in London as to the nature of the conference, and little credence was given reports in Berlin that Britain and France were preparing to "sell out" Poland.

British Pound Hits New Low

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (INS).—A crash in the British pound sterling to the lowest level since 1933 dominated world financial markets in the war crisis today.

The stock market here was quiet and irregular after yesterday's confused session. Most price changes were small and trading quiet.

Stocks slipped and then rallied in London, with American stocks strong. The pound sold down to $4.38, off 20½ cents as the British exchange equalization fund withdrew its support to conserve its funds in the crisis.

The French franc cracked also, losing 14½ points to 2½ cents.

Europe's Crisis

Europe had 24 hours more of peace and jitters under the guns of eleven million men.

The threat of war blew hot and cold, then hot again. Britain and Poland signed their mutual assistance war pact—a defiant gesture in the face of Hitler's demands on Poland. And Poland massed more thousands of her troops along her border.

A mysterious, one-hour conference in Berlin between Hitler and British Ambassador Henderson gave rise to conflicting reports. One dispatch intimated Britain was seeking a truce and to accomplish it was willing that Hitler should win Danzig and the Polish Corridor. The next minute London and Berlin both stated that it was Hitler who sought the parley, not Britain.

And right smack in the middle of this development and the conjectures accompanying it came the signing of the British-Polish pact, which seemed to dissipate the belief that a second Munich was in the making. The King and Chamberlain conferred.

Red Russia, allied with Nazi Germany, high-pressed Poland to capitulate, and it was reported Hitler and Stalin had agreed not only to halve Poland, but seize the other small Baltic nations born at Versailles.

Italy, left out in the cold, was jittery and may not fight if war comes. (H. R. Knickerbocker's Paris dispatch on this page.) Preparations for war were speeded up. Paris evacuated women and children (Page 5). London put sandbags on hotels as a precaution against aerial bombs (Page 4). Berlin spurned Roosevelt's plea and Warsaw appeared cool (Page 4).

But underneath all the shuffling of 11 million armed men, the maneuvering of the fleets and the stand-by order for the air armadas underneath all this Europe's diplomats were tensely playing at a secret, high-stake game in which the double-cross has good standing.

ITALY FEARS NEW DOUBLE-CROSS IN POLAND CARVE-UP

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER

International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Any talk at this moment of active co-operation between Soviet Russia and Germany to partition Poland bears unmistakable signs of serving Germany's desire to terrorize that nation into submission. But confirmation was received today from Italian sources that the red-brown Nazi-Bolsheviks have indeed agreed to divide between them the territory of their neighbors.

From Italian sources, which may properly be described as the best informed in all Europe, International News Service learns that Chancellor Hitler has allowed his Axis partner, Benito Mussolini, to believe:

First, that there will be no war because Poland cannot withstand the double menace of the Red army and the Reichswehr.

Second, that Poland will surrender either without fighting at all or after a short and sharp struggle.

Third, that Russia will occupy immediately Estonia, Latvia and the northern part of Poland while Germany takes everything up to the Vistula river, leaving

Hooded Bandit Fires, Flees at Forbes Estate

Wearing a hood with slits for the eyes, a gunman early today fired a shotgun blast at the caretaker in the Norwood home of W. Cameron Forbes, former ambassador to Japan, terrorized the caretaker's wife and daughter—then fled.

The shotgun slugs missed the caretaker, Michael Connolly, 67, as he darted into another room to telephone police, but bullets pierced a door and shattered a window.

When Connolly attempted to use the phone, he found it dead and later discovered that the mysterious gunman had cut the wires.

Forbes was at his summer home in Fairhaven when a collie dog at the Norwood estate began to bark and the caretaker rose to investigate.

In the hall he was confronted by the hooded gunman, who barked: "This is a holdup."

Just then Connolly's wife, Elizabeth, 60, and their daughter, Mary, 20, who had been awakened, entered the hall. The gunman turned toward them and Connolly raced for the telephone.

The double-barreled shotgun roared once, but the elderly caretaker was protected by the wall and was unscathed.

He called Police Chief William Sullivan.

Kane Silent on New Firemen Hearing

Mayor William E. Kane of Woburn remained silent today about the hearing on the dismissal of 18 ex-firemen, but indicated that the next meeting, Sept. 6, would be different.

Joers and associates greeted the mayor when he attempted to show that the dismissed men were apparently indifferent to the safety and economy of the city by refusing to answer a questionnaire. The hearing ended without a decision after a series of outbursts by the firemen.

Find Woman's Body In Surf at Revere

Under circumstances which resulted in police posting a guard at her husband's hospital bedside, the body of Mrs. Edna Parrand, 27, Maryland graduate nurse, temporarily of Chelsea, was found today floating 30 feet from the Revere Beach shore.

The husband, Ferdinand Parrand, 25, who reported his wife missing last Monday at the beach, is recovering in Chelsea Memorial Hospital after being found partly overcome by illuminating gas at their apartment in Fifth st., Chelsea.

Parrand is a native of Texas but is employed by Silas Mason Construction Co. of New York, which is putting in the Metropolitan District Commission relief sewer in Chelsea.

BODY IS BRUISED

He told police that his wife was a native of Maryland, had been married twice before and was working as a waitress in a Chelsea cafe.

According to Sergeant Charles Hendrickson of Revere Metropolitan police, the guard was placed at Parrand's bedside when it was found his wife's head was bloody and the face dark and congested.

Sgt. Hendrickson said the guard at the hospital had been requested by the medical examiner when the body was turned over to him and removed to North Grove st. mortuary for autopsy.

Inspector William Cuniff and Sgt. Harry Breen of the Metropolitan police questioned Parrand for an hour today at the hospital, then left for a boatyard to check up on the boat Parrand said he had hired for the fishing trip.

WAR CLOUDS CAST SHADOW ON FILMS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 25 (AP)—European war clouds cast their shadows over the motion picture industry today.

Studio executives said conflict abroad would ruin film markets. It also would mean the closing of profitable production plants, particularly in London where the major Hollywood studios have heavy investments.

Most important of all to the movie-going public it would mean the possible loss to American films of more than a score of British actors who might be drafted or called to volunteer for war duty.

Also affected would be the scattered representatives of other European nationalities. Charles Boyer, France's gift to Hollywood, is in Paris on a vacation.

Boyer is a member of the French army reserve corps. His studio said he planned to be gone more than a month, but that if war broke out he probably would remain in France.

The office of the British consul said it had "absolutely no instructions" as to prospective return of British subjects to their homeland. Some actors indicated, however, they were ready to leave on short notice.

Friends of David Niven said he probably would be among the first to answer a call to arms. He is a graduate of Sandhurst, the British West Point, and an officer in the British Army.

Leslie Howard and Robert Donat, well known in Hollywood, are in England now.

Among the British subjects now in Hollywood are two World War veterans—Donald Crisp, who was in the Military Intelligence Service, and James Stephenson, also Charles Laughton, George Sanders, Richard Greene, Brian Aherne, Boris Karloff, Ronald Colman, Ray Milland, Victor McLaglen, Basil Rathbone, Cary Grant and Laurence Olivier.

WINDSTORMS KILL 4

BRIDE—Flora Campbell, above, favorite actress in South Shore summer playhouses, today was honeymooning with Ben Cutler, New York band leader, after wedding in Gotham.

South Shore Actress Bride Of Musician

Flora Campbell, popular young actress of South Shore summer playhouse fame, took time out from her dramatic duties today for a honeymoon with Ben Cutler, formerly of Andover and now a New York orchestra leader, to whom she was married in La Fontaine, Kan.

Until Saturday, Miss Campbell has been leading women in "Angels Is 22," Sinclair Lewis play at Nantucket. She played opposite the author in the play. During the last six years she has played leading roles in Dennis Chabert and Egan Tucker playhouses.

Friends who disclosed the marriage declared that she and Cutler had known each other for the past several years. Cutler lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Cutler of Maine st., Andover, until his band Julius brought him to New York. He is a graduate of Phillips Andover Academy and Yale University and is now 35 years old.

POLES REJECT F. D. PLEA, WON'T PARLEY

Determined to Fight, Keep Danzig Free

WARSAW, Aug. 25 (AP)—Immediate reaction in Poland to President Roosevelt's appeal today was that, although this country is appreciative of the efforts of "all peoples and nations of good will," the present moment is scarcely susceptible to any efforts toward mediation or conciliation.

This applied equally, it appeared, to reported Soviet efforts to persuade Poland to capitulate "peacefully" to German demands.

There was new emphasis on Poland's stated determination "not to negotiate under the intimidation of an armed and aggressive Germany."

The Polish telegraph agency reported President Roosevelt's message had been received and that President Ignace Moscicki undoubtedly would reply.

BLANK CHECKS

The popular view persisted that Poland negotiated now she would be forced to sit down at a conference table "with a blank check in her pocket." In other words, prepared to give away something in the spirit of appeasement.

A reply by President Moscicki to the peace appeal of King Leopold of Belgium also, was announced, going new emphasis to Poland's insistence on direct negotiations, if any.

The President said in this message that he "much admires the principles expressed in the noble speech of the King of Belgium" and that Poland "has always defended

BULLETIN

PARIS, Aug. 25 (INS)—Poland will accept President Roosevelt's proposal for negotiation of her dispute with Germany on condition that the present threat of armed force is removed, Polish diplomatic circles here stated today.

In his reply to Mr. Roosevelt, sent from Warsaw today, President Moscicki is believed to have stressed Poland's permanent readiness to negotiate.

The idea that a long lasting peace cannot be based on injustice as regards weaker nations.

RELIEVES IN JUSTICE

He added:

"Poland has always believed that the best guarantee of sound international relations and peace is direct negotiation based on equity and mutual respect of rights and interests."

Observers agreed the fear among Poles of a "second Munich" was a tremendous factor in the present attitude.

It was reiterated steadily that Poland, while desirous of peace, cannot negotiate beyond what is considered Polish rights.

Hitler's reply to President Roosevelt's message to him was awaited here with interest, since it was believed a flat rejection by Germany would serve to intensify American public sympathy for the British-French front.

Warsaw, meanwhile, was brought directly into her country's war preparations with the calling up of regimental reservists throughout the capital.

JAIL FOOD PROFITEERS

Policemen with notebooks round up the resisters, who dropped their work and got into uniform. Camouflaged trucks with field guns occasionally were seen.

The press announced a temporary shortage of several foodstuffs had passed and adequate supplies now were on hand.

It was reported the government was taking care of the families of all reservists called to the colors.

Poland's determination to fight if Danzig changed status violates Poland's basic and vital interests and rights in the Free City was emphasized in Warsaw's two leading pro-government morning newspapers.

1—Any attempt at union between Germany and Danzig.

2—Exclusion of Danzig outside the Polish customs frontiers.

3—Submission of Polish rights in Danzig to the control of a third power (particularly meaning Germany).

4—Depriving Danzig Poles of their rights of national development.

Poland Protests Naming Of Forster as Chief

DANZIG, Aug. 25 (AP)—Poland protested today to the Danzig Senate against the elevation of Nazi District Leader Albert Forster as chief of state of the Free City.

Well-informed sources said it was unlikely that the Polish note would be answered.

The Danzig Vorposten, Nazi organ in the Free City, described the action yesterday as the "final prelude" to the return of Danzig to Germany.

Poland also protested against what she described as an attack on Polish management of the Free City railroads through the arrest of a number of railroad men.

MAP shows air distances between the important capitals of Europe likely to be affected by a general war. If conflict arrives these capitals will undoubtedly be bombing targets. Though Turkey would probably not be drawn in, Istanbul might be a jumping-off place for allied planes.

ROOSEVELT HAS HOPE WAR STILL WILL BE AVOIDED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today he did not regard the European situation as certain to result in war.

Discussing the critical foreign situation at a press conference, he made this statement when asked whether he would call a special session of Congress to act on new neutrality legislation.

Speaking to reporters only a few hours after he had addressed peace appeals to Adolf Hitler and Polish President Ignace Moscicki, Mr. Roosevelt said he had made perfectly clear before that he would not call Congress unless it was reasonably certain war was imminent.

NO REPLIES TO PLEAS

Saying there had been some confusion over the word imminent, he declared it carried the connotation of certainty and then went on to say he did not believe the present situation was certain to bring hostilities.

Everyone devoutly hopes war is not certain, he declared.

Asked whether the hope of which he spoke was based on any specific knowledge, the President replied he had no more news than the newspaper men present.

Discussing the critical state of world affairs in a calm, deliberate tone, the President said he had no replies as yet from his messages to Germany and Poland to settle their differences either by direct negotiation, impartial arbitration, or through a neutral moderator, or to his earlier appeal of yesterday to the King of Italy to intervene in behalf of peace.

U. S. PREPAREDNESS PLANS

Asked about American preparedness measures, Mr. Roosevelt said the machinery which began to take form two years ago had been perfected in the last year and the only question remaining was the pressing of the button to put it in operation at the proper time.

Asked whether this state of preparation represented the maximum preparedness machinery this country could produce, the President said he would not call it that but preferred to say it was better than at any time in the past.

Included, he said, were financial preparations and preparatory measures for evacuating Americans from war zones.

Most of his conferences today, he added, were related to the use of this machinery should it become necessary.

The President said he had not canceled his West Coast trip scheduled for October 1, but added that whether he goes will depend on developments.

3 PLANS OFFERED

He also said he would like to go to Hyde Park, N. Y., Monday, but would not do so if the situation then is as it is today.

Climaxing a thorough study of the foreign crisis after his return to the Capital Mr. Roosevelt sent messages to Hitler and Poland's president last night asking for a truce and suggesting three methods for ending the Nazi-Polish controversy.

1—Direct negotiation.

2—Impartial arbitration in which they can both have confidence.

3—The procedure of conciliation, selecting as conciliator or mediator a national of one of the traditionally neutral states of Europe or a national of one of the American Republics which are all of them free from any connection with or participation in European political affairs.

Jitters Hit London U. S. Socialite Tells of Fear

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (INS)—Mrs. Ten Eyck Wendell, New York social leader, today telephoned the New York Journal-American from London asking for assistance in booking quick passage to the United States.

"All London has the jitters," she said. "We've been ordered to leave London at once but the first boat doesn't leave until Sunday and it's booked full."

"The roof of our hotel is covered with sandbags six deep to break the force of a bomb if it falls. Guards from Kensington palace have showed us the way to an underground passage that leads to the palace across the street."

Mrs. Wendell added that the population has been warned always to keep gas masks accessible.

"People are carrying them under their arms wherever they go," she said. "The Americans are taking it more calmly than the British. They seem to regard it as a huge joke."

"But to see these white-faced people walking the streets, always gazing skyward, gives you the shudders." She described effect of the drone of airplane motors overhead on the people in the street with these words:

"It's like the beat of a huge drum under the overtones of a nervous symphony of other instruments. It's nerve-wracking. Everyone seems on the ragged edge of going mad."

Britain, With Peace Hopes Faint, Speeds War Orders

LONDON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Great Britain hailed as a ray of hope today in the rapidly darkening European situation President Roosevelt's peace appeals.

But, while the nation hoped for some break in the international deadlock that would point the way to conference instead of armed conflict, it grimly began to adjust itself to a new war-like tempo.

President Roosevelt's second appeal within 24 hours, directed to Fuehrer Hitler of Germany and President Ignace Moscicki of Poland, came too late for comment by London morning papers but it was welcomed generally as bolstering yesterday's Parliamentary speeches by Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax and Prime Minister Chamberlain.

While Halifax reaffirmed Chamberlain's assertions that Britain was determined to fulfill her obligations to Poland if Poland fights over Germany's demands, he added:

"I would earnestly hope that in the face of all the consequences of a resort to war, and before any step is taken that cannot be retraced, reason may yet prevail."

The preparations for "eventualities" were felt in every home from the mansions of Mayfair to the slums of Limehouse. Most households that did not have a son or daughter in the army, navy, air force or one of the auxiliary services had some member connected with the vast civil defense setup.

"BLACKOUT" FOR WAR

And if none in the home was in the service the householder still was aware of war preparations. For by radio, newspaper and personal visits came instructions:

That he must curtain his windows so as not to betray the city to airplanes;

That he must not hoard food but wait for ration cards;

That his car or his household, if necessary, might be taken over by the government;

That his money was likewise subject to requisition;

That his home was liable to search and he himself liable to secret trial if other court proceedings seemed inexpedient.

Previous reports that Britain was bringing pressure to bear upon Warsaw have always been denied, but official German dispatches told of feverish diplomatic activity in the Polish capital, with the Soviet ambassador as well as the British envoy playing a prominent role.

Hitler to Spurn F. D. Plea; Reds Talk to Poles

BERLIN, Aug. 25 (AP)—Nazi rejection of President Roosevelt's peace appeal was forecast authoritatively today as German sources reported Soviet Russia putting last-minute pressure on Poland to give in peacefully to Adolf Hitler's demands.

Hope for a peaceful settlement through eleven-hour capitulation of Poland and her guarantors, Great Britain and France, was the keynote in official quarters here.

Competent sources expressed belief Germany had decided to postpone military action, at least for one more day.

This decision may have been taken at a long conference lasting until 1 a. m. among Hitler, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, Field Marshal Hermann Goering and General Wilhelm Keitel, Hitler's closest military adviser.

Reported pressure on Poland through the Soviet ambassador to Warsaw, German efforts to bring Russia and Japan into a non-aggression treaty and to persuade Turkey to turn her back on her new alliance with Britain were the cards Germany was playing in her hopes of getting what she wants without bloodshed.

The President's message was studied by Hitler in the Reich's chancellery.

Excellent sources said the reply would be negative in tone with the implication that President Roosevelt had sent his plea "to the wrong address."

"It should have gone to England," these sources said.

PARIS EVACUATES WOMEN, CHILDREN FROM WAR ZONE

By KENNETH T. DOWNS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Aug. 25—Widespread evacuation of women and children from eastern France to the comparative safety of Brittany and the interior got under way today as more than 2,000,000 men took their posts at war stations and Premier Daladier proceeded with plans for creation of a cabinet of national unity.

Persons lacking transportation were herded into municipal and prefectural buses and taken to the countryside. Throughout the day scores of these conveyances rumbled through Paris carrying weary and pathetic cargoes from the Meuse valley and other regions blasted by shellfire in the last war.

Despite this ominous development, there was a sudden and inexplicable wave of optimism in Paris.

A gay note was evident in the streets and cafes, while the bourse boomed upward. Pivotal stocks gained nearly 8 per cent, making up almost all of yesterday's losses.

PORTERS GO TO WAR

Well-informed circles could not explain the optimistic trend. Diplomatic observers felt nothing had occurred to justify it.

French nationals returning from Germany were reported halted at the frontier for search and questioning. Paris stations were crowded with returning tourists, while there was a continuous exodus of Germans, including correspondents.

Mobilization of all able-bodied men meanwhile proceeded to a point where the normal facilities of the capital were handicapped.

There were no porters at the Gare du Nord when the boat train for the Holland American liner Nieuw Amsterdam pulled out. Passengers were compelled to hustle their own baggage.

President Roosevelt's latest move for peace overshadowed preparedness news in French newspapers.

Official circles declined to comment beyond stating his overtures had created only a "thin wisp" of hope for peace.

Premier Daladier spent the day at the war ministry in conversation with Chief of Staff General Marie Gustave Gamelin. He is scheduled to make a national broadcast this evening appealing for national unity in the crisis.

Foreign Minister Bonnet conferred with the ambassadors of Great Britain, Poland and Spain and then reported to the premier.

His talk with the Spanish envoy aroused keen speculation, but there was no hint as to its nature.

These were the two salient developments as France faced grimly the possibility of war at any moment.

Daladier will broadcast an appeal to the nation's political parties which for decades have quarreled among themselves in an effort to unify any remaining differences in the face of a national crisis that may mean the life or death of the nation.

Duce Calls 200,000 Men As He Scans F. D. Plea

ROME, Aug. 25 (INR)—Premier Mussolini called an additional 200,000 men to the colors today at the same moment as King Victor Emmanuel transmitted to him President Roosevelt's personal message appealing for peaceful intervention in Europe's crisis.

The King was "profoundly impressed" by the President's initiative, it was said, but Mussolini's action indicated the Italian government holds out little hope for a peaceful solution.

The troops called up today were from the classes of 1903 to 1913, and bring the total number of classes now under arms to six, in addition to several contingents of "specialists." With the Fascist militia mobilized into 35 battalions, Italy's armed forces now total 1,200,000 men. The navy and air force have been at full strength since August 21.

An increase in subsidies to the families of conscripts was announced coincident with the new mobilization.

The King's reaction to Roosevelt's plea was revealed by William Phillips, United States Ambassador, who delivered it. The King, he said, asked the ambassador to "thank the President cordially for the message, which will be conveyed immediately to the head of the government."

Dewey, G-Men Fight To Prosecute Lepke

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (INS).—A grim legal battle for the honor of sending Louis "Lepke" Buchalter to prison or to the electric chair was in progress today between the forces of Dist. Atty. Thomas E. Dewey and U. S. Atty.-Gen. Frank Murphy.

Conviction of Lepke, notorious gangster and racketeer, would be a feather in the cap of either legal department and each was intent today on handling the prosecution.

Because Lepke surrendered to J. Edgar Hoover, top man of the Department of Justice, the federal legal action was in slightly the better position to prosecute him and it meant to place in that position if possible.

U. S. Atty. John Cahill in active charge of the case, said the federal government has ten indictments against the gangster, with total penalties if convicted on all indictments of 100 years in prison and $100,000 in fines.

But Dewey's staff in the absence of their chief who is vacationing in Michigan, moved swiftly to take away the prize prisoner. The first move was a request to Cahill's office to surrender Lepke for immediate trial on local indictments.

That was refused on the ground that Cahill had not decided what action to take.

Next, the Dewey forces moved to obtain a murder indictment against the gangster, but that will take time.

Meanwhile New York police officials who did not know that Lepke surrendered until they read about it in the papers were cloistered with Mayor La Guardia, who obviously was upset by the ease with which the federal men rode into the commanding position.

CLIP, TAKE COOLING SEA TRIP

The summer's wanting, but the sun still shines bright.

But the August weather is perfect on the water, where cool breezes sweep across Massachusetts bay from the wide, comfortable ocean—nature's own giant air conditioning plant.

One of the best ways you can take advantage of the ideal air conditioning in the world is to take a cruise—and the cruise is ready to hand.

It's next Monday's Steel Pier cruise to Provincetown, and by clipping the coupon in the Aug. 27 Boston Sunday Advertiser, you can enjoy it at a special low rate.

The Steel Pier casts off from Foster's wharf, next to the Boston wharf, at 10 a. m. Monday. Dancing, deck games, a well appointed cafeteria, and orchestra music are provided for the trans-hay voyage.

Two hours stop-over in historic Provincetown is one of the highlights of the day. Don't fail to clip the coupon in next Sunday's Advertiser.

Plattsburg Troops Battle to Deadlock

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP)—The second battle of Plattsburg, fought just 150 years after Colonial troops made history on the shores of Lake Champlain, ended today on a sudden, rain-drenched battlefield with 36,000 National Guardsmen and 15,000 regulars locked in a bloodless, no-decision combat.

While reports filtering in from the "front" at dawn indicated an invading "Black" army of guardsmen had spent the night hammering a slowly yielding "Blue" corps of regulars, umpires said no attempt would be made to decide "who won the war."

JUST TRAINING

In a statement marking the end of hostilities, Lieut.-Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commander of the first army, chalked the whole thing up to training and declared the most important object had been accomplished in teaching the men "what it's all about."

To the troops, rain-drenched and war-weary after two nights in the field with bare ground for a bed, the cessation of fighting meant immediate return to their home stations and a well-earned rest.

A thunderstorm which swept the area late yesterday left dead in its wake three Connecticut National Guardsmen, members of the 63d Division, who were struck by lightning.

HEART ATTACK

Those killed were Corporal Benjamin Faglia, Fair Haven, and Private Harry Poletti of the 102d Infantry, New Haven, and Private Rocco Pastore, Waterbury, member of the medical detachment of the same regiment.

During the storm Private Gerard Fisher, Brooklyn, member of the 102d Medical Regiment, dropped dead of heart disease. These deaths brought to eight the number of fatalities connected with the maneuvers.

Tobin Opposed To U. S. in War

In a fervent plea that Americans recall their ill-fated experiences of the World War, Mayor Tobin was recorded today in opposition to participation of the United States in any European conflict.

Expressing fervent hope for peace, the Mayor said:

"I trust the American people have learned their lesson and that no matter what happens in Europe we will always have in mind Washington's words in his farewell address cautioning future American governments to avoid European entanglements.

"We have two of the greatest natural fortresses in the world for the defence of American interests, the Pacific ocean on the west and the Atlantic on the east, as well as a friendly Canada on the north."

DIES' PROBERS GRILL JEWS' FOE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Henry D. Allen, 60-year-old former mining explorer who has been waging a six-year campaign to "throw the Jews out of the government," told the House Committee on Un-American Activities today that during "a great deal" of that time he had been on relief in California.

"I find the Jews have absolutely got me boycotted," he said, telling of his unemployment since 1933.

"The fact is," commented Rep. Voorhis (D.) of California, "You are not denied relief in spite of your activities."

The committee has been questioning Allen for two days in an effort to develop evidence of co-operation between groups engaged in anti-Semitic propaganda.

Among other things, he related that last year, while in Washington to arrange for an Arab picket line at a Palestine relief convention, he visited the German and Italian embassies and talked of his activities with officials there.

As a result of this testimony, Chairman Dies asked the committee's counsel today to determine whether this country could take any action in cases where diplomats "meddle in domestic affairs."

In response to questioning, Allen, who described himself as a West Coast leader of the "Fight against international Jewry," related to the committee that his activities included association, correspondence or conversations with many groups holding aims similar to his.

Among them, he said, were organizations of white Russians, Italians and the German-American Bund in this country.

At the end of a long siege of questioning by the committee, Allen asked to have a word at his own.

He then demanded that the committee charge with perjury Arnold Gingrich of Chicago, publisher of Ken magazine, declaring that on the committee's witness stand last year the publisher had accused him falsely of "being an agent of a foreign government and of gun-running."

Fear Pembroke Man Dead in Factory Fire

NORTH PEMBROKE, Aug. 25.—One employee was feared dead today, a fireman was overcome by smoke and four-score workers, two of them girl clerks fled during a fire that destroyed considerable lumber and the three buildings of the Gilbert H. West Box Co.

The fireman overcome, but revived on the lawn, was Robert Smith of North Pembroke. Long after the fire had died down, Elliot Magoun, 55, of North Pembroke, plant foreman, was still missing and was believed to have been trapped.

Magoun, who had been outside but who had run into the basement with Albert Hawer and fire extinguishers when the blaze started, was last seen by Baker running toward a closed door. Baker said he himself barely escaped by crawling through a cellar window.

Largest industry in Pembroke, the company's plant was on Route 3, and the blaze, fought by Pembroke and Hanover firemen, attracted hundreds of motorists on their way to Boston from the South shore and Cape Cod.

The blaze started shortly after 8 o'clock and was preceded, some of the workers said, by what appeared to be an explosion underneath the mill building.

Through the three buildings, each about 200 feet long, the flames spread and then swept piles of lumber standing in the yard.

A general alarm was sounded.

Set Old Colony Hearing Monday

A hearing on Gov. Saltonstall's plan to postpone termination of passenger service on the Old Colony line, effective September 24, will be held next Monday before Judge Carroll R. Hincks in Federal Court at New Haven, Ct.

Ben Jarvis Hunt of North Attleboro, chairman of the special recess commission created to study transportation problems, with particular reference to the Old Colony abandonment, said the commission would appear at the hearing.

New Haven Railroad bondholders also will be given an opportunity to be heard at the hearing on the question whether they approve postponement of the scheduled date for discontinuance of service.

False Alarmist Seized in Chase

After two false fire alarms had been sounded in Jamaica Plain, a 26-year-old man was arrested today following a struggle, according to police, in which one shot was fired into the ground.

The man, a resident in the vicinity of the fire boxes, was booked on a charge of drunkenness and held for questioning.

Police said he was seen by Patrolman Archie McDonald of Jamaica Plain division, who gave chase. As he ran, the officer shot into the ground.

Patrolman McDonald charged the suspect struggled with him when he was captured in Chestnut st.

Parole Parents of Four on Desertion Charge

A frail 21-year-old mother of four children and her 25-year-old husband today were placed on probation for a year by Judge Daniel W. Casey in West Roxbury court on charges of deserting the children.

Discovered last June in the Canterbury st., Dorchester, apartment of their parents, half starved after being alone four days, the children, oldest of whom is 4, were placed in the care of an aunt, Mrs. Annie Egan, of East st., East Weymouth. The father, William Madden, of Williams st., West Roxbury, who has found a job with a real estate firm, was ordered to pay $10 a week for the support of his three little daughters and son.

Mrs. Helen Madden, who told authorities she was married when she was 15, told Judge Casey she will go to Portland, Me., to obtain work.

The children are Helen, 4; Joan, 3; Loretta, 20 months, and William, Jr., 2 months.

ANCIENTS GET 'FOSSIL' APOLOGY

Almost, but not quite, hand in hand, the Rev. Gordon Chilton Reardon and Lieut.-Col. James W. Myrick, acting commander of the Ancient and Honorable Company, appeared today before the Marine Corps League convention at the Copley Plaza.

There, in brief words, the Rev. Reardon, of the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League, publicly apologized for his address of yesterday before the Marines, during which he characterized the Ancients as "fossilized fusiliers" and "run aways."

The attack on the Ancients grew out of their chartering of a German liner for their cruise next month to Bermuda.

Today the minister, himself an ex-Marine, told the convention, in apologizing, that his remarks were his own personal opinions and were not those of the Marine Corps League.

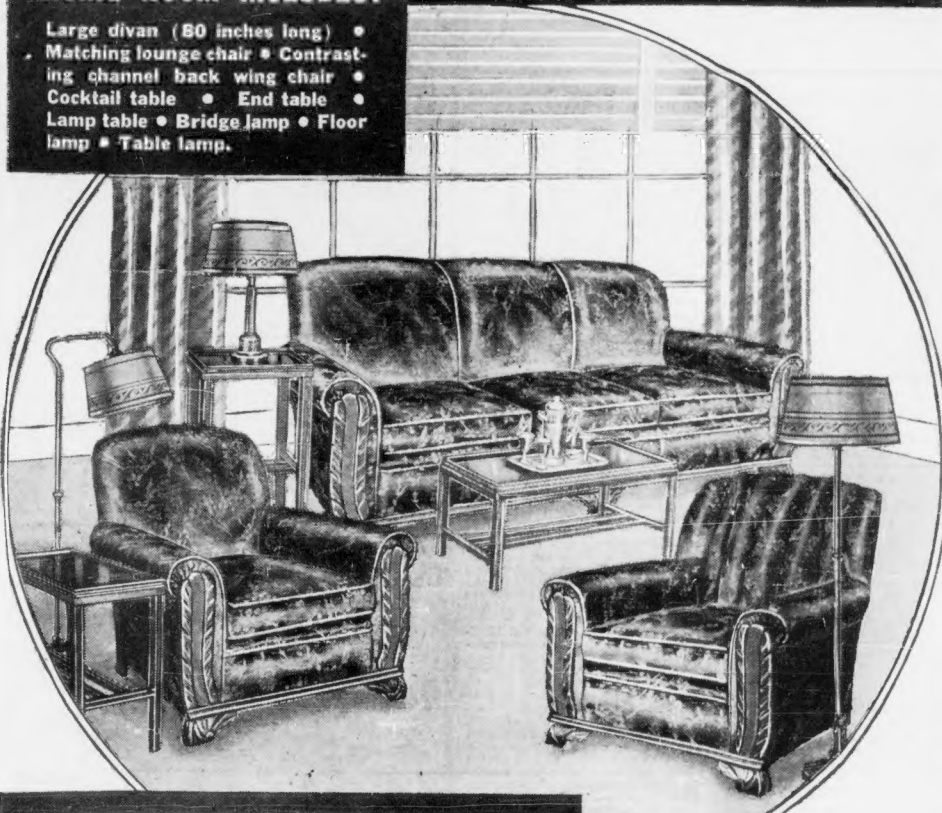

The convention immediately passed a resolution that the entire matter be eliminated from the convention records.

This was one of many resolutions adopted placing the league on record as favoring a "hands off" policy in other national wars.

Find Woman's Body in Surf

would meet her on the beach at 5:30.

Police hunted the beach, found her suitcase with her clothing, her name and a small sum of money, then paged her along the beach without result.

At 9:30 last night, Parrand, partly overcome by gas, staggered into the apartment of neighbors. Police were called and found an oven jet in the Parrand apartment wide open. He was taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Ernest Ayer and Richard Richards, both of Revere Beach Blvd., were on the beach this morning in the Oak Island section when they sighted the woman's body floating.

They called police and the body was recovered by Officers John H. Lundholm and Charles P. Larson. The dead woman had Auburn hair, was clad in a bathing suit and answered the description of the missing Mrs. Parrand.

MET ON SHIPBOARD

Police questioning of Parrand brought out, they said, that the dead woman was formerly Edna Phelps of Maryland, that she had been married once before and that she had met Parrand on a coastal fruit ship while he was a member of the crew and she a passenger.

He left the sea later, he told police, and obtained work at the Crownsville Hospital in Crownsville, Md., near Baltimore, where she was training and where she was graduated in 1933. Two years ago they were married.

In a search of the couple's apartment today, police failed to find any photograph of the dead woman among photographs there of many persons. One of the persons was a boy about 5 years old, leading police to believe that she may have had a son.

Police Brand Wake Robber Meanest Thief

Dubbed by police "one of the world's meanest thieves," Joseph O'Neill, 27, of Tovar st., Dorchester, was locked up today on charges of stealing a gold watch from his best friend and a $35 stealing silver set at a house where he was attending a wake as a mourner.

O'Neill admitted both crimes, according to police. They said he took the watch from a locker in Warren st., Roxbury, and the silver in a Somerville home.

a small strip to be called "The Congress of Poland" between with its capital at Warsaw.

This strip will be nominally "autonomous" under a joint "protectorate" of Russia and Germany but will not be allowed either access to the sea or diplomatic representation.

This outline appears to ignore completely any role by England and France, and that indeed seems today to be the attitude of Hitler, who continues firmly convinced that the allies either won't enter a war at all or that after it has started they will accept the Eiche peace terms once he has conquered eastern Europe.

The effect of these plans thus revealed by Hitler to Italy has been deeply to disquiet the leaders of Italian policy, particularly inasmuch as they were not informed beforehand of Hitler's intention to sign a pact with Russia. Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano also was profoundly affected by his meeting at Berchtesgaden with Hitler. For the first time in Ciano's experience, Hitler, who at previous meetings with the Italians had been a quiet and cautious host, was now in one of his famous fits of fury.

Whereas hitherto the Italians believed they had a partnership with a man who might use a threat of force to get his way but would remain balanced and never actually go to war, they are now convinced by his behavior at Berchtesgaden that he is truly ready to take upon himself full responsibility for risking the lives of tens of millions.

In other words, he is not bluffing, but will insist upon conquering Poland, no matter what the resistance may be from any quarters.

The net effect upon the Italians was to strengthen their desire to stay out of a conflict which, whatever other outcome it may have, seems certain to bring destruction to Italy.

The most marked sign of Italian hesitation came when Ciano after the Berchtesgaden meeting informed the British ambassador:

"I did not tell Hitler that we approved. I did not say that we would go with him into war."

Meanwhile, the Russo-German accord was beginning to show some extraordinary effects, including the fact that the French today are negotiating with Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain to obtain permission to transport French colonial troops across Spain, and the fact that such negotiations are possible shows how far France is disappointed over the Axis friends clasping hands with a Bolshevik nation still red with the blood of Spaniards.

Reports reaching Paris from China indicate also the amazing possibility of Hitler opening negotiations with Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek, which is interpreted as a sign he has promised Russia not merely a free hand but active support against Japan.

Franco to Keep Spain Neutral

MADRID, Aug. 25 (AP)—Newspapers of Nationalist Spain declared today the nation must maintain peace and expressed hope intervention by Italy would prevent a European conflict.

Spain, it was authoritatively reported, would quickly announce her neutrality if war started—in accordance with General Francisco Franco's expressed desire for an opportunity to rebuild the nation.

THESE are the days of the enormous advances in the science of maintaining neu-tralities. The major European nations,
I think, have all found victory to no country, and the world is in a state of economic and political paralysis.

Only the United States will survive because of its geographical and other advantages.
All other nations will be ruined leaving Japan to deal only with the United States. Other nations would have to fall back before Japan.

We would find ourselves in a position from which Japan would control not only the Orient BUT THE WHOLE WORLD.

It is the only way to survive. The only way to survive is to maintain our neutrality. The only way to survive is to maintain our neutrality. The only way to survive is to maintain our neutrality.

When we look at the world, we see its resources and its power. We see the world as it is. We see the world as it is.
We see the world as it is. We see the world as it is.

Bear Song

ONCE there was a bear, and his name was John. He had a little boy and girl, and they were very happy.
They had a little boy and girl, and they were very happy.

He had a red velvet coat that made him round and round, and a pair of shoes that walked him more'n a mile above the ground. He saved up all his pennies for ice cream and soda pop, and every day he'd find his way down to the candy shop.

And if you don't believe this tale, well, just look over there, just over your left shoulder, and you'll really see the bear.

—Paul T. Gilbert

Human Side of News

By EDWIN C. HILL

MY NEIGHBOR, if you are a newsman, you are a man of many parts. You are a man of many parts. You are a man of many parts.

COWBOY STAR GENE AUTRY AND WIFE
"Sure-Fire Movie Is, Nine Times Out of Ten, a Western" their own cigarettes, speak naturally and unconsciously their native range lingo, buy their bunglows on the installment plan and don't worry much about clothes, as much of their life is spent in their working rig, supplied by the company.

Even off-shift you're not to see them in ranch clothes, and they don't seem quite at ease when they're dressed up in town clothes.
Many of them chug back and forth to work in old family five-vers. There isn't a real badman among them, and many are tea-totalers and church goers.

THE TERM "drugstore cowboy" came from the little drugstore at the end of Poverty Row, where the boys gather to toss off an ice cream soda and talk shop while they are waiting for a call.

That old frontier scene at Stages with the houses with false fronts, more familiar to Americans perhaps than any other movie property, is always quite efficient for a backdrop for the principal shooting episodes. The barroom set, which we all know as well, has been used perhaps 600 times.

They rush through a western in about six days. The cost will be anywhere from $10,000 to $25,000, and my friends tell me, there hasn't been a one when they didn't try any fancy business—that hasn't paid out nicely.

It's a free and easy around the lot with everybody on a first name basis. Here's the one spot in Hollywood where the director doesn't have his name on his chair and doesn't want it.

for there's nothing much more becoming than this suit!

For a knit, that shirt is a double swing one, with many gores let into it. The double breasted closing is tapered to a vastly becoming point by nickel buttons, and the little collar is adorable. A simple combination of knit and purl makes the fabric stitch.

You may have a set of knitting directions by writing to Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, and, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Love and Marriage

Two Years Wasted on Her

DEAR MISS FAIFAX:

A certain girl with whom I went for over a year led me to believe she loved me, and for a year she was very devoted to me and it made me very happy. All of a sudden she began to neglect me and seemed to be indifferent.

All my family and my friends knew we were going to be married and now that she has left me I feel so humiliated. I received a letter from her recently saying she felt it was only infatuation. And now I feel as if I've wasted two years of my life in a love that proved false. What do you advise? We're both 23 years old.

I'm going to hard hit something that is so old it has been in the place. Please let me hear from you. I'll be glad to hear from you.

Yours truly,
John D. W. W.

You're a virgin, and the world is full of charming picks—many more of them than of marriageable ones. I'm thankful you're free to choose one who will really love you in the meantime, if you take my advice you'll drop the girl who humiliated you and makes you feel so uncomfortable.

Job Is Cure For Loneliness

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My first husband died and left me with two boys. I had been a school teacher and was so poor so I had no difficulty getting a job as a domestic. I was married again. My husband belonged to several lodges and different associations. He was violent on his night off he goes to a saloon, drinks, and takes to the street home.

I spend my evening alone, as the boys go to bed early. My husband gives me just barely enough for food, and if the boys need something I have to figure how I can cut down on even this small allowance I'm 35, fairly looking, in excellent health my heart aches for you. I do all my own housewifery, cooking, cleaning, I don't have a cent to spend on myself or clothes. The question is, should I go back to work or do you know

New York City's Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA) has published a study that suggests that the use of a computerized decision support system (CDSS) can improve the quality of medical care. The study, conducted by researchers at the University of California, San Francisco, found that the use of a CDSS reduced the number of errors in medical diagnoses and improved the quality of patient care. The researchers concluded that the use of a CDSS can be a valuable tool for improving the quality of medical care.

DON MEADE HAS kept faith with those persons who backed him in his fight for reinstatement as a jockey . . . He is the top money jockey of the country with 184 wins, 151 seconds and 115 thirds which gives him an average of 22 per cent for victories . . . The Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser gave Meade an opportunity to tell his story when he was making his fight for national vindication.

"I thank God I never pulled a horse or fixed a race," wrote Meade . . . "I always rode to win, but did bet on mounts other than the one I was riding in a particular race . . . I did this because I thought the horse I was wagering on was the better one."

Meade's success on the turf this year has helped drive his argument home in convincing fashion . . . After Don's initial successes in Florida, rival jockeys became jealous of his winning habits and ganged up on him . . . They tried to cut Meade's mounts off, and prevent him from getting clear of the field . . . Don didn't squawk once, and kept riding to win.

Ferryboat proved he has regained his best form when he came roaring out of the field at 'Gansett to win and pay $22.70. Austen Lake, who has a rule that only permits him to bet one day a year, has a few bobs on Ferryboat . . . George Holland demanded a recount when Addis finished in the show spot . . . The man about town thought Addis was a cinch.

Johnny Buckley and myself rode to victory with Yancy Christmas' Rough Time.

"Christmas," said Buckley, "is a wise old owl, and will have his horse out front at the finish."

"Where will I meet you after the race?" a groom asked Johnny Adams as the latter paraded postward with Ozark in the eighth race.

"In the winner's circle," replied Adams without batting a smile.

The groom was waiting for Adams when he won easily with Ozark who paid off at $6.90 . . . Wantarun was lucky to beat Ozark last Saturday . . . Ozark got jammed up behind horses on the turn, and finished second to Wantarun . . . At 'Gansett yesterday Adams kept Ozark on the outside and when he made his move at the head of the stretch he had clear running . . . Dave Wilson gave his followers Weta, Scandalous and Ozark . . . The Wilson rooters usually have sufficient money to pick up a night club check.

Johnny Moran was very hot on Laddie's Boy . . . Probably because there are plenty of dogs by the name of Laddie running at the Dighton dog track where Moran is publicity director.

Foreign Horses May Race Here

IN THE EVENT of war in Europe, many of the better English, Irish and French thoroughbreds may be shipped here so that they can remain in active racing . . . War would close most of the European race tracks . . . During the World War, racing was continued, but in many places under curtailed programs . . . In Maryland, there was always a race for army officers . . . Of course the Colonel always won.

Most members of the Red Sox and Braves became members of the Charlestown Navy Yard nine . . . Jack Barry gave up his berth as manager of the Sox to direct the service team . . . Ed Barrow was moved in as manager of the Red Sox, and retained the post when Barry came out of the Navy . . . Later Barrow went to the Yanks as General Manager.

If the United States should become involved in war, I look for Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey to direct boxing shows at army camps and at naval stations . . . Tunney started the boxing career that ended with his winning the world's heavyweight championship while he was with the marines in France . . . Dempsey has always regretted he didn't serve in the last war, and if the call to arms ever sounds again in this country you'll find the old Manassa Mauler waiting on the steps of the War Department in Washington asking what he can do to help along the cause.

Boxing boomed during war days . . . The ring game is always popular in army camps, while the thousands of workers in shipyards and munition plants turned to boxing for excitement . . . It was due to the popularity of boxing during the war that the sport was legalized in so many States . . . Former president Calvin Coolidge was Governor of Massachusetts when boxing was legalized . . . Coolidge once presented this writer with a special certificate as recognition for aid in raising funds for the Boston Children's Hospital through boxing shows.

Jacobs Plans Conn-McCoy Bout for Garden

MIKE JACOBS plans a Billy Conn-Al McCoy bout for his boxing debut at the Boston Garden in October . . . Jacobs is smart enough to know that he has to have a Boston boxer on one end of his card, and has concluded McCoy would be his best bet to pit against Conn . . . Henry Armstrong, Lou Ambers and other top flight boxers will be shown here by Jacobs . . . Portland is talking about a bout between Lou Brouillard and Henry Chmielewski . . . The Goodwin Club is also seeking this match for Boston.

They are tossing Walter Hagen a golf party on his twenty-fifth anniversary . . . As a star golfer Hagen did more for golf than any other player with the exception of Francis Ouimet . . . As a professional, Hagen earned a million dollars . . . It was Bob Harlow, at one time golf editor of this newspaper, who piloted Hagen into the big money, and showed the links stars how to get the coin.

AN UNCOMMON GUEST—A $250,000 job is this beautiful streamlined yacht, owned by Anthony Fokker, world famed airplane designer and builder. Fokker arrived in Boston for supplies following a brief vacation trip along the Maine coast. Fokker's genius at design is shown in this yacht, which is completely enclosed against bad weather when hatches and windows are shut.

The MacKay Joins Immortals: Noble Miramichi Legend Ends

By DARK MONTREAL

Away down on the swift flowing southwest Miramichi last Monday there came an end to a legend that was a man widely beloved. A stern paddle was laid inboard the big canoe and the hand that held it was forever stilled.

Donald MacKay of Ladlow, N. B., died as he would have wished on the great salmon river he loved and knew as perhaps no other of his time.

Eighty years old was the MacKay, and one of the greatest salmon guides that ever gaffed a silver king. Thirty years he fished for himself, and for the last 40 he guided American anglers.

He was guide and mentor for Dr. C. E. B. Chase of Boston, and even if you never met him personally, you knew him as the chief guide and philosopher for "Mr. Tutt," for how as the friend and guide of Arthur Train, lawyer-author, whose fishing stories in the Saturday Evening Post have been so widely read.

GREAT MEN'S FRIEND
The MacKay was also friend and guide of ex-Governor Russell of Massachusetts, Joe Jefferson, the famous actor; Russell Sage, the financial magnate, and a host of others.

Salmon fishing and guiding came as an inheritance from his Scotch forebears but he developed himself into a superior riverman. He was grand, neighborly and unassuming of that Donald MacKay from Nova Scotia who established an East Boston shipyard in the last century and turned out some of the world's fastest clipper ships.

KNEW NATURE'S VOICE
All his life he spent on the wide, white river and its flowing was almost the flowing of the blood in his own veins because he knew not only the pools where the fresh run fish were lying but the very boulders behind which they fanned in the eddies, and he knew where the bears came down to fish for themselves and where the cow moose and her calf would come in the morning dim light to browse on the pads, and he could tell, watching the first stoop of an osprey, whether that eagle would take the marked fish, or would miss it, and he knew, also if it were a musk, what curse the eagle cried.

ALWAYS PUPPIES' MASTER

He could tell, could the MacKay, by sighting the sun and tasting the breeze and measuring the spill of the rapids when the frecklets came, whether it would be Silver Doctor or Black Dose they would be taking the day, or whether they would be taking nothing at all.

And he could tell, not only from the flash of burnished silver below the east fly and from the music of the reel to an ounce he could tell it how much your fish would weigh. These things the MacKay learned and these things he taught to hundreds of anglers down the years but there was never a pup could better the old master and he remained the top man of all the Miramichi country where good men in his arts abound.

This year, he said, he would fish no more, for he was old and, after all, there comes a time when it is sweeter just to lie by the river and listen to it, than to be on it, struggling with it. But there was a geological survey unit going into the upper Miramichi area and its members needed the best man they could get. They prevailed upon the MacKay to take them in.

He took them in, all right, but in the wilderness he was stricken and over the week-end he started for home in his big canoe. He knew he wanted to be home. And in the Monday twilight, running the white water of the river he loved, he died upon its bosom and by now he sleeps in the Ladlow earth above the river within sound of his voice. Many will mourn the MacKay.

WORD FROM BAUER

Salmon fishing and guiding came as an inheritance from his Scotch forebears but he developed himself into a superior riverman. He was grand, neighborly and unassuming of that Donald MacKay from Nova Scotia who established an East Boston shipyard in the last century and turned out some of the world's fastest clipper ships.

They were Walter Osgood and his son, Vernon, fishing from one boat, Gordon Brown, Lou Martin and Mrs. Lou Martin fishing from the other.

They hit into the bass run trolling worms behind spinners. The largest fish ranged around the nine-pound mark, the smallest was about three.

Just to demonstrate his versatility with rod and reel, Brown baits of a 30-pound tuna in Ipswich Bay the next day, fishing from Bauer's Betty 34 and killing his limit in 35 minutes on 54-thread line.

Better Rookies Bid for Jobs In Big Time

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—The baseball run nowadays may not be as lustful as in former years, but it seems to run more good extra to the aid, not to speak of hands and legs, as the major league club are not worrying over a steady supply of rookie talent to replace the old timers when the packing chair gets them.

A recent comment by George Biele, one of the ultra-ultra first basemen in his time and now high commissioner of the National Semi-Professional Baseball Congress, to the effect that the many semi-pro tournaments are satisfactory, reasonable and that something must be done to interest youth in baseball, brought up the question of whether old timers were holding on in the majors because of lack of youth talent.

We checked the major league offices to quiet our own alarm, and the answer appears to be a shout, "No."

As a matter of fact, nearly 20 per cent of the players on the rosters in both leagues can be classed as rookies from a major league standpoint, most of them are younger than specialists, others may have been up before, but so briefly they never hang up their bat.

Henry Edwards, director of the American League Service Bureau, says that 27 of last year's American League rookies still are in the circuit and that 40 of this year's crop are still on the rosters, either as regulars or utility men. Thirty of the 1939 crop are chased as regulars, the list including pitchers.

"I would say without hesitation," Edwards says, "that this is a larger number than in 1935, 1936 or 1937."

The National League record is even more impressive. Fifty-five of this year's rookie crop still are on the rosters, with 30 on the regular list.

William Brandt, National League service bureau chief, says this healthy condition is due to an increasing interest in baseball in schools and colleges.

The last two years have brought a wave of fine new players," Brandt says. "The quality as well as the quantity has improved greatly. Just look at some of those 1938 rookies—Vandermeer, McCormack, Slaughter and others. The boys of the band still are playing plenty of baseball."

Arthur Donovan, referee of the Armstrong-Amber fight, has landed in Tony Gale's doghouse and is out as referee of the Nova fight if Tony has his way before the Pennsylvania boxing commission today.

Overheard after the Card-Dodgers series: Ray Blades: "Lend me a nickel; I want to call up a friend." Coach Buzz Wares: "Here's a dime . . . go call up all your friends."

34 POUNDS OF FLESH
 Old Shyluck was just a bushy . . . He should get a load of George Backus, demanding 34 pounds of Jack Torrance, the old L. S. U.er who reported that much overweight . . . The golfing gals at Ebbets look pretty ducky in those jockey caps they're featuring . . .

Flash! A Los Angeles publication "sports weekly" confirms the hint that Jack Sutherland will be getting his mail at Palo Alto beginning next spring . . . Jim Mickey, who used to play for the Cardinals (the Polo Grounds and said: "You can't give the Giants back to this old Injun!"

THANKSGIVING? HAW! —Coach Josh Cody of Florida can't feature all this excitement about Thanksgiving . . . Rain or shine, there'll be none for him this year . . . In his football squad of 40 there are only two seniors and only one two-letter man . . . And one of the seniors played only 17 minutes last year.

U. C. L. A. is getting ready to smoke up and knock the daylight football opener . . . Jack Hendricks, Jr., son of the old Cardinal and Red manager, wants to know if the Cards didn't hang up some sort of a record in grabbing seven twin bills in a row?

LOU ENDS VACATION
 Lou Little, Columbia coach, is in New York after vacationing at Oyster Bay, Mass., with a card showing he shot a 39 for nine holes . . . Mickey Cochrane is reported ready to invest a wad of dough in the Hollywood club on the coast.

DOING ITS BIT—If Notre Dame doesn't do all right this year, it won't be Illinois' fault . . . They've only got 20 guys on the Irish squad.

Grimley Stops Casey's Crew

Both favorites in the Boston Park League semifinal playoffs were upset last night, when the Holy Name A. A., on its return to Fallon Field, evened the defeat score by edging the Casey crew, 3-1, behind the fourth-bit chucking of Johnny Grimley.
At South Boston, Jack Thompson was the hero of the St. Augustine win over the Rosindale Town Club, 7-3, when he relieved Walsh on the Saints' rubber in the last frame with three on deck and struck out Heinz, Marianna and Healy of the Town Club to ice the contest for the South Boston Stadium hosts.
Tonight, third games in the two out of three series will move back to Rosindale and Dorchester, when Lefty Pinkham or Ace Healy will start on the Town Club rubber at Healy Field, while Bill Benson will probably send Jack Thompson to take the deciding clash from the Saints' hill.
Winning clubs tonight will take the divisional titles in the two loop and will go into the four out of seven final series on Monday night.

SPORT CHARACTER DIES

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 25 (AP)—Arthur J. Conlon, prominent in state sports circles and receiver of the first referee's license after establishment of the State Boxing Commission several years ago, died last night.

War Menace May Send Whiz Back to Buccs

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25 (AP)—Art Rooney, president of the Pittsburgh pro football team, saw a possible silver lining behind the dark war clouds of Europe today.
"It's the Whizzer," explained Rooney, referring to Byron (Whizzer) White, who starred with the Pirates last fall and now is a Rhodes scholar at Oxford.
"Don't be surprised if he is back in our lineup this season. I know he will not remain in England if war breaks out."
White was the National League's leading ground gainer last season, despite the fact the Pirates were a hopeless also-ran entry. He went to England for two or three years of study.
